Programme Report For Webinar on “Research Collaboration and Networking”

KCET R&D conducted a webinar on “Research Collaboration & Networking” on 21.09.2018 and the program was presided by Mr. C. Yaashwanth, Research Scholar, Anna University. He pointed the age of big science that collaboration is increasingly becoming a main characteristic of scientific activity. Scientific collaboration plays an important role in implementing major scientific breakthroughs, improving research efficiency, achieving knowledge innovation, and the sharing of scientific and technological resources. This webinar could be a valuable session for the researchers, scholars, Students and the Faculty Members.
